My brother Michael used to be a teacher in a village school near — (treba ostaviti prazno) Cambridge. The job was interesting but tiring and not very well – paid. He spent most of his free time on his hobby – collecting and repairing — (treba ostaviti prazno) clocks. Then he had an idea. The CBI (Confederation of British Industry) was — (treba ostaviti prazno) helping people start up by themselves. Why not go on a training course, apply for a loan and set up a small business? So he resigned from the school, said goodbye to the children, and joined the unemployed. He obtained — (treba ostaviti prazno) information from — (treba ostaviti prazno) different sources, took — (treba ostaviti prazno) advice all about the trade. Eighteen months later he has his own shop and was earning about 2.000 pounds a month. “It was the best thing I ever did”, he said.
